Strike Of The Machinists In St. Louis Ends

Conciliation On Other Threats Is Being Sought

By The Associated Press
A jurisdictional strike of 8,500 AFL machinists at St. Louis was ended today, arbitration of the captive coal mine labor dispute proceeded at New York, and President Roosevelt's fact-finding board made ready for new hearings at Washington on the threatened nationwide railroad walk-out.

Offsetting in part these conciliatory moves, the threat of a west coast shipyard welders strike became more acute. A spokesman for the United Welders, Cutters and Helpers of America announced that about 1,500 men employed in Los Angeles shipyards had voted "to support a strike if it becomes necessary."

The welders have demanded, "without success, that the AFL grant them a separate charter. The welding workers contend that in some cases they have to take out membership in as many as half a dozen unions in order to ply their trade."

Notice To Welders

The Los Angeles strike vote was ordered after the International Brotherhood of Boiler-makers, Iron Shipbuilders & Helpers served notice that the welders, who had bolted from that union had until last night to apply for reinstatement before being ejected from their jobs at the Los Angeles shipyards.

After last night's vote to support a strike, the welders' spokesman said the showdown would come "if the boiler-makers start locking the men out."

However, the California Shipbuilding corporation, which has Maritime Commission orders for 17 "Liberty" cargo ships, each costing more than $1,500,000, said after a conference with the AFL boiler-makers union that there would be no attempt to collect dues from welders in that plant at present. Efforts to mediate the issue were going on in Washington.

Assistant Navy Secretary Ralph A. Bard expressed deep concern over the situation. He requested the welders to stay on the job and refrain "from any interference with production."

The Office of Production Management recently worked out an agreement with AFL officials under which welders would be

Prowler Enters Two Homes

The worries of the Sedalia police department have again been started — the sneak thief and the prowler are knocking. Two residences of West Sedalia were entered Wednesday night by a man who successfully eluded the occupants of the homes. No one saw him enter, although the occupants were there — but asleep.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Good-knight's home, 808 West Sixth street, was entered, but as yet nothing has been found missing. Mr. Goodknight was at home but had gone to sleep, but when Mrs. Goodknight returned from visiting with friends she heard a noise in the kitchen and thought it was her husband until she walked in to the bedroom and found Mr. Goodknight sound asleep.

She called to her husband and about that time she heard the party leaving the home through the bathroom window. The person evidently had been in the house but a short time as Mr. Goodknight had returned home about 10:30 from a picture show and sat up reading until shortly after 11 o'clock. Mrs. Goodknight returned home about 11:45 o'clock.

A report was also received from the home of E. W. Patterson, 107 South Quincy avenue, who reported a sneak thief had entered his residence while the family slept, sometime about 11 o'clock and stole $2 out of his billfold.

The man entered through a kitchen window and evidently made his departure the same way.

Former Senator Dies

Chas. Ewen, former state senator and Pettis county clerk, who killed himself Wednesday afternoon at his Sedalia home. The 61-year-old politician had been despondent, relatives said.

Former State Senator Ewen Ends His Life

Fatally Shot Self In Bathroom At His Home Here

Charles Ewen, 61, former state senator from the fifteenth district of Missouri, and well known Pettis countian, was found dead at his home, 640 East Tenth street, about 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, shot through the head and with a .41 caliber revolver by his side.

The former senate member, prominent in Democratic politics for many years, had been despondent during the past few days, according to his wife, and told his family yesterday that he was not feeling well. A son, Shirley, of Ellisville, Mo., has been visiting him, but was not at home at the time of the shooting.

Found In Bathroom

The body was found in a sitting position in the bathtub by his wife, who had been downtown watching the Christmas parade. She immediately called Dr. J. W. Boger, who examined the body and stated that Ewen had been dead for five or ten minutes.

Ewen had propped a mirror against the wall at the foot of the tub, apparently in order to sight

Need Places For Hi-Y Visitors

The response to attend the Hi-Y conference in Sedalia Friday and Saturday is much greater than had been anticipated. The leaders had counted on one hundred boys from other towns, and this afternoon, there were one hundred thirty-six who have planned to attend.

This leaves the local leaders in a quandry because they have made arrangements for the one hundred to be taken care of in local homes, and they now need more homes in which to keep the youths while here. The youths are high school and Y. M. C. A. boys, who stand well in their own communities, and those who will take them in are asked to give them a bed Friday and Saturday night, and breakfast Saturday and Sunday morning.

Those who will volunteer to assist in the entertainment of the youths, by entertaining them in their homes, are asked to call Mrs. Paul Zink 'phone 2730.

Anxious For Legislation To Curb Strikes

AFL And CIO Oppose Move Of Congressmen

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—Four congressional committees raced today for the privilege of sponsoring anti-strike legislation which spokesmen for organized labor flatly opposed.

The senate labor committee moved into the picture when it agreed, members said, to write a compromise measure and report it promptly so it would be on the calendar when the Connally plant seizure bill is expected to be brought up next week. A senate judiciary subcommittee is holding hearings on the Connally proposal.

Hold Night Session

Acting Chairman Ramspeck (D-Ga.) of the house labor committee said that in view of strong opposition from industry as well as organized labor it was very doubtful the group would recommend compulsory arbitration of defense strikes, as had been contemplated in a tentative bill.

Members of the house committee said it would hold an extraordinary night session tonight to complete a measure but Ramspeck said the meeting had not been finally decided upon. The house judiciary committee announced it would have a bill if the labor group's measure did not have enough "teeth."

The tentative bill was drawn after conferences of house members with President Roosevelt. R. Hook, representing the National Association of Manufacturers, expressed opposition to compulsory arbitration after labor leaders had taken a similar position. Hook suggested, however, that congress could require compulsory mediation.

The American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organization opposed all proposals through spokesmen, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen opposed the Connally measure.

A member of the house labor committee said the group was told "that some anti-strike bill definitely will be called up for debate

Activities of a school health nurse were related by Miss Betty Field who holds that position in the Sedalia public school system, in a talk before the Sedalia Kiwanis club at its meeting in Bothwell hotel this noon. She was presented by Program Chairman T. H. Yount.

The club voted to entertain the Smith-Cotton high school football squads and coaches at a dinner meeting in the First Christian church at 6:30 Tuesday night, December 2. A program is being arranged to include a talk by a member of the Missouri University coaching staff.

President Henry Salveter announced there would be a meeting of directors and committee chairmen at Williams' Cafe Friday noon at which time the chairmen will submit written reports on their activities the past month.

Otto Ramseyer, Kansas City, was a guest of Sheriff Bothwell.

Calls Petain 'Tool of Hitler'

Norris Suggests U. S. Break With The Vichy Regime

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—(AP)—Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) called Marshal Petain "the tool of Hitler" today and suggested that the United States sever relations with the Vichy regime because "we must assume that France is an enemy."

The Nebraskan apparently was unimpressed by reports reaching New York overnight which hinted at the possibility of a hitch in current Franco-German negotiations, with Petain balking at outright partnership in the axis.

"I don't know whether that will make any difference in the eventual outcome," he said in an interview. "I don't know just what it means. Maybe the French will oppose Hitler. Apparently they are watching all (war) developments."

Unlike Norris, Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the senate foreign relations committee saw no immediate reason for a diplomatic break.

He told newsmen, however, that "if Vichy succumbs to Nazi pressure and yields North Africa and the French fleet to Hitler, the people of the United States will regard it as a base betrayal of our country and the other democracies of the world."

In such circumstances, he added, the United States would have to consider France as an enemy.

Connally renewed his earlier assertions that it would be necessary for the United States to take over French possessions in the western hemisphere if Vichy seemed inclined to give Germany a hand in the colonies' administration.

Decision By Court On Wills

Construes Those Of Joseph A. And Mrs. Zora Johnson

The circuit court has handed down a decision construing the wills of Joseph A. Johnson and Zora Johnson. Both were residents of Green Ridge. Joseph A. Johnson passed away February 1, 1926, but no administration was opened on his estate until the summer of 1941. Zora Johnson, his wife died July 7, 1941. Rev. James D. Briggs and Charles E. Johnson were appointed administrators of both estates.

The will of Zora Johnson provided that her husband should have a life estate, and that at his death her estate should be equally divided between the legal heirs of herself and of her husband. The will of Joseph A. Johnson contained a similar provision.

The court construed the will to mean that the heirs of Zora Johnson are to receive one-half of each estate and that the heirs of Joseph A. Johnson are to receive one-half of each estate; that among the heirs of Joseph A. Johnson one-half of the estates is to be divided equally share and share alike and the same is true with reference to the heirs of Zora Johnson.

Seizure Made Of Punch Boards

The chief of police, Harry Anderson, this morning picked up three punch boards at the Smoke House, which he confiscated and turned over to the prosecuting attorney.

Intent To Carry On War To A Victorious End

Confidence Vote Squelches Move On Churchill

LONDON, Nov. 27—(P)—The Churchill government, bolstered today by a new vote of confidence voiced belief that Germany, seeking respite from the war in Russia, was shaping a peace offensive through the expanded anti-Comintern pact.

But in the same breath, the government, speaking through Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, served new notice that the German move would not affect by "one jot" the determination of Britain and her allies to carry the war to a victorious conclusion.

The house of commons overwhelmingly squelched a move by the four-man Independent Labor party to unseat the Churchill government today and, in debate, covered virtually every phase of government operations, including conduct of the war.

The independent laborites moved to amend the house's traditional reply to the message from King George VI which opened the present session of parliament on Nov. 12. They proposed to insert a note of regret that the king's speech contained no definite proposal for changing the economic system.

While the motion was foredoomed to failure, the debate afforded John McGovern, one of the independent laborites, an opportunity to charge, among other things, that the United States has "prepared to use British bodies to blast her way into the markets of the continent."

The amendment was defeated

ouncement that basic American proposals for adjusting long-standing problems with Japan had been handed Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, Japanese ambassador, and Saburo Kurosu, the special Japanese envoy.

The White House would give no details as to the reasons underlying today's conference.

Possibility of Thrust
Reports reaching authoritative Washington quarters indicate that Japan has been rapidly strengthening her forces in French Indo-China but also large shipment of war materials of all kinds including aviation gasoline.

Some of the reports held out a possibility of a Japanese thrust, perhaps into Thailand, within the next few days.

The Tokyo newspaper Asahi in a special dispatch from Hanoi today accused French Indo-China of a changed attitude toward Japan as a result of the negotiations between Japan and the United States and other factors.

Asahi said Indo-China's attitude recently "has been betraying some points suggesting a lack of sincerity toward Japan in no small degree."

In the State Department's eyes the alternative now is clear.

BY LLOYD LEHRBAS
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The United States put the issue of peace or war in the Pacific squarely up to the Japanese government today.

It was for Japan to accept or reject the formula of basic principles which the United States considered essential to the maintenance of peace and security in the far east.

And those basic principles, in their application, would be diametrically opposed to the oft-repeated policies which Tokyo officials have proclaimed for "the greater east Asia co-prosperity sphere" that Japan envisions.

Relations between the United States and Japan reached this critical juncture late yesterday after seven months of almost continuous diplomatic negotiations had failed to find common ground for the settlement of existing differences.

Secretary of State Hull met the Japanese ambassador, Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, the Japanese ambassador, and Saburo Kurosu, special Japanese envoy, Cable Stand To Tokyo.

The restatement of basic principles was accompanied by recommendations for their practical application by Japan in the Orient. Practical application, it was said would involve abandonment of a program of aggression, withdrawal of troops from China and French Indo-China, and the inauguration of a peaceful economic policy.

The Japanese envoys were understood to have cabled the document to Tokyo during the night, together with their own reports on their extended conversations with President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull.

Great Britain, China, the Netherlands and Australia all were kept fully informed of developments in the discussions through their envoys here, and all gave their full support to the attitude taken by the United States.

Secretary Hull, it was learned, took the vital interests of those Pacific powers into full consideration in formulating recommendations for practical application of the basic principles he laid down.

Japan's acceptance of this basic formula it was said would mean a resumption of diplomatic discussions.

However, since the Japanese have not agreed to any of these basic principles, there was little optimism in diplomatic circles here that the Japanese would resume the discussions—certainly not immediately.

Rejection of the American formula and a resumption of Japan's armed expansion in Asia, it was added, would plunge the Pacific into a war which might quickly involve the United States, the

Defense Bond Quiz Corner

Q. How are retail stores aiding in the National Defense Savings Program during the holiday season?

A. They are participating in country-wide effort for the sale of Defense Savings Stamps to their Christmas customers.

Q. Federal taxes have increased. Why are people also urged to buy Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps?

A. Because the country faces the greatest danger in its history. The way to meet that danger is to safeguard our assets and resources to the limit. Also, individuals need to save now as never before, to meet the problems likely to arise when defense spending ends.

Note—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps are now on sale at retail stores.

"Up To United States"
TOKYO, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Evening papers displayed prominently, but without editorial comment, today accounts of Secretary of State Hull's presentation yesterday of proposals to the Japanese ambassador, Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, and Saburo Kurosu, special Japanese envoy. Earlier editions, containing articles written before the receipt of news from Washington of that development in the Japanese-American negotiations, chorused that the fate of Japanese-American relations would be decided within a few days.

They presented the point of view that the question whether there would be peace or war in the Pacific was entirely up to the United States.

the gun. The bullet entered his head above the right ear, came out through the left temple and lodged in the east wall of the bathroom.

Was Fully Clothed

The body was fully clothed, but a billfold, watch and a small amount of change had been removed from the pockets of the trousers and placed on a bureau in an adjoining bedroom.

Edgar Wells, 1201 South Montgomery, stated that Ewen had borrowed the revolver found beside him, shortly after five o'clock the preceding evening.

"Mr. Ewen had been busy Tuesday washing his car," Wells said, "and that evening he came over to my house and asked for the revolver, saying that a cat had been tracking mud over his car every night and that he wanted to borrow my gun to scare it with."

No Inquest Necessary
Dr. W. T. Bishop, coroner, stated that the shooting was "a plain case of suicide," and that no inquest would be necessary.

Ewen was born July 8, 1880, at Stanton, Ky., and was educated in the grade schools of Jackson, Ky., and at Jackson Academy. He later came to Pettis county and attended La Monte high school, graduating to enroll at the Central Missouri State Teachers college at Warrensburg.

In July, 1903, at Clay City, Ky., he was married to Miss Allie Holman, who died in February, 1928. Two children, both of whom survive, were born: Shirley Ewen, of Ellisville, Mo., and Mrs. Maxine Lindemood, of Washington, D. C. During his residence in Sedalia, he was an insurance agent and farmer, and also taught school for 19 years at several different county schools.

Was County Clerk
He had been engaged in farming and stock raising for 20 years and was an underwriter of fire insurance for more than 20 years. Elected county clerk of Pettis county in 1922, he served three consecutive terms and in 1936 he was elected to the state senate. In the 59th general assembly he acted as chairman of the committee of fees and salaries, repeating the chairmanship in the 60th general assembly.

He was also a member of committees of agriculture, build and loan, insurance, labor, naval affairs and permanent seat of government and public health.

The last position he held at Jefferson City was that of custodian of senate property.

Mr. Ewen lost one leg when he was a boy, about 15 years old, in an accident which occurred while he was engaged in some work on a farm. He always walked with a crutch.

Surviving is his wife, Mrs. Anna G. Ewen, to whom he was married August 30, 1940; his two children by the previous marriage and two grandchildren, Jo Ann and Robert Charles Ewen, both of Ellisville. They are visiting the family home with their father.

The daughter was notified of her father's death, and is en route to Sedalia. The body was taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home.

Funeral Be Saturday

Funeral services will be held at the First Christian church at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Rev. A. W. Kokenodorf, the pastor, to officiate. Mrs. H. O. Foraker will have charge of the music.

Interment will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

The body will be taken from the Gillespie Funeral Home to the Ewen home, on East Tenth street, between 5 and 6 o'clock this evening.

Argues Against Break
On the other hand, Senator Smith (D-SC), dean of the senate, argued that "there is no reason to break diplomatic relations with France or take her possessions until they actually constitute a real threat to us. To act unless we are threatened would represent another step toward declaration of war on half the world."

The opinions Norris expressed on Franco-American relations aroused considerable interest, for he lunched with President Roosevelt yesterday and it was reported reliably they conversed briefly and generally about foreign relations. The Nebraska senator presumably gave the president his views regarding France, but he would not discuss his White House conference with reporters.

Senator Nye (R-ND), long time foe of administration foreign policy, said that "if the Vichy government does grant complete collaboration to Germany I am sure the controlling factor will have been our failure to give them relief by refusing to send food which they so desperately needed. 'It is impossible to starve people without driving them into the arms of somebody else.'" in the house at noon next Monday."

William Green, AFL president, proposed to the house labor committee that as an alternative to such legislation a cooperative plan be worked out for industry, labor and government to end strikes. He said any anti-strike legislation would "do far more harm than good."

The house group was considering legislation which included a provision for compulsory arbitration, in the discretion of the president. It was reported the measure had tacit approval of Mr. Roosevelt, who conferred with house members on the matter this week.

To Discuss Cut In NYR Funds

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 26.—(AP)—High school and college NYA work advisors will meet here Friday to discuss adjustment to a 24 per cent cut in student aid funds, affecting 11,000 state students.

John P. McKay, state director of NYA student work, with whom the counselors will confer, said today that an original reduction of 75 per cent in college employment funds "may not amount to more than 25 per cent."

W. A. Swearingen, deputy administrator, said $545,443 had been lopped from the fiscal year's budget of $2,158,380 for the regular out-of-school work program, which provides training and part-time employment in vocational and clerical work for 5,000 Missouri youths. A thousand persons will be cut off the out-of-school payroll January 1.

Swearingen said that student employment funds had been cut $148,756. Original allocation for the academic year was $578,325. The reduction will affect 3,000 students in college and 8,000 in high schools.

The state quota for NYA defense workers was reduced 20 per cent in mid-November.

State NYA advisors will meet here December 11 to discuss the funds reduction and proposed merger of the NYA and CCC programs.

Dr. G. Oscar Robinson, state NYA administrator, met here yesterday with directors of Missouri's six NYA areas, Charles A. Neiswender, Chillicothe; Owen T. Mullinax, Kansas City; Carl L. Parker, St. Louis; Edward Hanlon, Cape Girardeau; W. D. Achuff, Springfield and Lloyd A. Grigsby, Jefferson City.

Lull Comes On Price Control

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Victorious over a much broader substitute proposal, the administration-backed price control bill found new difficulties ahead today as House groups lined up for an attempt to force the legislation back to committee for additional study and perhaps drastic revision.

There was a temporary lull in the actual battle, for the House was celebrating the second Thanksgiving Day with a recess. This postponed until Friday a vote on whether the measure should carry a clause empowering the government to buy and sell commodities to keep their prices stable. The administration favors such a provision.

The pending bill weathered its first test yesterday by a margin of 218-to-63, when the House crushed an attempt to substitute stringent control of all prices, rents and wages for the administration plan of imposing price ceilings on only those commodities whose prices got out of line.

But important opposition was brewing on two important points. The Republicans were dead set against a proposal to license dealers handling regulated commodities, and representatives of farm states did not favor the omission of wage control. This double dissatisfaction evoked speculation on the possibility of a coalition drive for recommitment.

allowed to work with only one card, but the welders refused to pay dues to the boilermakers, stuck to their demands for autonomy, and declared the OPM agreement was reached without consulting their independent organization. Further, they said, the agreement was not acceptable because it did not overcome "discrimination and abuses" to which they said they were subject.

Termination of the three-day general strike of machinists in the St. Louis industrial area was announced last night, although details of the peace formula were not revealed. The walkout, which tied up or slowed down work on millions of dollars worth of defense orders, stemmed from a triple jurisdictional dispute involving the AFL machinists, AFL hoisting engineers and AFL carpenters unions. The original issue was over the right to represent 24 garage mechanics at the Weldon Springs, Mo., TNT plant.

Arbitrators Meet
Uninterrupted sessions of the captive coal mine arbitration board were planned in New York, following initial discussions yesterday by the three members—John L. Lewis, president of the CIO United Mine Workers who demanded a union shop; Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel corporation, representing the steel interests which own and operate the captive coal mines, and Dr. John R. Steelman, on leave from his directorship of the U. S. Conciliation Service to act as the public's representative.

Under the union shop, all employees of the captive pits would have to become members of the union after a stipulated period of employment.

The five-member fact-finding board appointed by President Roosevelt in the railroad wage dispute arranged to re-open hearings tomorrow in order to meet the president's request for a report by Monday on new facts in the case.

The 350,000 members of the five operating brotherhoods have voted to strike December 7 to enforce their demands for a 30 percent wage boost. The lowest scale among the operating men now is $5.06 a day. The fact-finding board recommended a 7½ percent increase, which was accepted by the carriers but rejected by the brotherhoods.

Queries by Arbitrators

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's three-man board arbitrating the union shop issue for the major steel companies' captive coal mines today asked the steel companies whether they would accept the board's forthcoming decision as binding.

Dr. John R. Steelman, chairman of the board and representative of the public, sent telegrams to nine steel company executives asking them to either reaffirm or clarify their position in respect to the case being arbitrated.

These three questions were asked:

"1. Do you accept the decision of the arbitration board as binding on your company?"
"2. Do you desire that your statement before the full National Defense Mediation Board as of November 3 and/or 4 is a complete statement of your position in respect to the controversy?"
"3. Do you wish to appear before the board?"

This step was taken after reports were published today that the Republic Steel corporation and National Steel corporation had not agreed to abide by the board's future decision.

Mrs. Miller Dies Of Injuries

Mrs. George E. Yeager and daughter, Mrs. Lela Lee, who went to Des Moines recently, to visit their granddaughter and daughter, respectively, Mrs. Chester Kurtz, and her family, were called from there to Los Angeles, Calif., by the death of Mrs. Yeager's sister, Mrs. W. E. Miller, which occurred Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller had been injured in an automobile accident about two months ago, but were thought to be getting along nicely. Mrs. Miller's death occurred suddenly, and the message stated Mr. Miller's condition was critical.

The Sedalians went to Des Moines to make the acquaintance of a new daughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz and had planned on returning to Sedalia and later go to California for the winter.

Dies Of Injuries In Fall From Horse

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Mary Abernathy, 20, daughter of J. L. Abernathy II, of Kansas City, Mo., died today of injuries suffered Tuesday afternoon in a fall from a horse.

Miss Abernathy, junior student at the University of Arizona, was on a cross country ride with the advanced riding class of the university when a stirrup broke and the horse was galloping. She suffered a head injury and a fractured leg.

Intent To Carry On War To A Victorious End

326 to 2. (Apparently two of the independent laborites had been called on to act as tellers in the past.)

The house then unanimously adopted the commons' reply to the king's speech, embracing formal approval of government policies as outlined by the king as well as an expression of confidence in Prime Minister Churchill and his cabinet heads of the armed services.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden urged rejection of the independent laborites' amendment, asserting, "There is a job of work to be done and I hope the house will encourage the government to get on with the job by rejecting the amendment."

Eden denied in passing an assertion yesterday by German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop that Britain had been assured in 1940 that Russia would join the war on Britain's side.

Charge On U. S.

McGovern, outspoken critic of Prime Minister Churchill's government, who called the Atlantic charter "one of the grossest pieces of deceit of modern times," charged that the United States is attempting to extend the "old financial system of Wall Street" in Europe.

"They are no more concerned with freedom and democracy than a large number of reactionary Fascists in this country are," he said.

If the charter is good enough for countries overrun by Hitler, McGovern told the house, "Surely we ought to guarantee the independence of our colonial peoples."

Anything short of that, he added is "humbug, deceit and hypocrisy of the worst kind."

Churchill, McGovern asserted, has a state of mind more akin to the dictators than to the anti-Fascists and his opposition to the axis is really "commercial imperialism."

Russia, he said, is going to be destroyed as a Communist state because, after the war, she will be "either an outpost of Nazi Germany or a servant of British-American finance and capitalism."

Replying to McGovern, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said that if the government should "wash its hands of the war," as McGovern's independent labor party of four members of parliament appeared to want, there would be "no system in Europe but the Nazi system."

S-C Singers Go To St. Louis

The Smith-Cotton Madrigal singers have been chosen to appear at the state teachers meeting in St. Louis on Friday, December 5, at 9 o'clock in the morning. They are to offer selections of a wide variety which will include very old Madrigal songs, American folk songs, Christmas selections and several sacred numbers.

The Madrigaleans will sing for the music teachers at the state meeting, and the last half of the clinic will be devoted to selected numbers, the teachers giving names of numbers they would like to hear and the singers attempting to sing them at sight.

Those to attend are: Soprano, Betty Jean Brown, Winnifred Griswold, Dorothy Maxwell, Barbara Roberts, Betty Jo Tharp; Alto, Rebecca Arnold, Betty Barnett, Marvella Barnum, Lou Balch, Helen Patterson; Tenor, Buster Baker, Eugene Hargrove, Ralph Guenther; Bass, Eugene Collins, Jack Fugua and Burney D. Morris.

Stands To Profit By V Emblem

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Pratho P. Scott didn't think up the V-for-Victory emblem, but he had a better idea. He got a patent on it, and now he stands to make a fortune from its commercial use.

The V has been widely employed, as in jewelry and clothing designs, but strangely enough nobody ever took the trouble to safeguard it with a patent.

That clever little brain child was reserved for Scott and now it seems that all the commercial organizations utilizing the patriotic symbol of a battle-torn Britain may have to pay royalties to him.

Scott, genial, hustling sales manager for a Tulsa boat company, got his bright idea recently when he designed a V-for-Victory boat pennant for a customer. Inside the V appeared the well-known three dots and a dash, Morse code for V.

The customer rejected the drawing but it got Scotty to thinking. He employed a patent attorney, advanced the necessary $150 patent fees, and sat back to see what would happen.

Plenty happened, and so quickly it made Scotty's head swim. A search of the patent office files in Washington disclosed that the Tulan had a good hunch. There was no patent on the V and one was issued to him.

The number of the patent, 130317, may be as lucky for him as the winning combination on a sweepstakes ticket.

For no sooner had it been granted than a dozen firms of ferred to negotiate with him for exclusive rights.

"Who'd think," the amazed Scotty demanded, "that anything as well known as that had not been patented?"

Tobruk Force Blasts Its Way Out Of Shell

ed columns hunted the raiders as if to tilt again the sea-saw of war in Europe and Africa, the German armies on the Moscow front were reported to have posed fresh threats to Moscow. The situation of the Red army was said to have been "aggravated" in the past 24 hours in the Volokolamsk sector, 65 miles northwest of Moscow.

The Moscow newspaper Izvestia said that the Germans had thrown "huge forces" in an attempt to build up numerical superiority for their many-pointed offensive toward the Russian capital. The Germans were attempting both frontal assault and encirclement.

Divergent Claims

The British reported the recapture of Rezegh today and the Italians that of Sidi Omar in sharply divergent counter-claims of success in the turbulent Libyan battle of armored armies whipped to new fury by reinforcements for both sides.

In Russia, the German high command said, the Red army has lost heavily near and north of Rostov-on-Don, at the southern end of the long eastern front, and has been frustrated in a new attempt to break out of the Leninград siege ring in the north.

Advices to Pravda, the organ of the Communist party, acknowledged that the Germans had made new advances toward Moscow. In this, they paralleled the Nazi war bulletin which, without detail, merely said there had been fresh German progress in the central and northern sector of the Russian front.

Pravda, however, declared that the Germans had been stopped on the frontal approach to the Red capital and for the past 10 days had been feeling out the northern and southern anchors of the Soviet defense line in a maneuver to cut behind them.

Despite their gains, it declared, and the increased peril to Moscow, "undoubtedly the hopes which Hitler placed in the November offensive have failed."

Most of the German pressure before Moscow apparently was directed at the extremes of the arc the Nazis are pressing steadily closer toward the Red capital from north and south.

Stopped by strong points of the Russian defenses there, the Germans seemed to be sidestepping them to cut around and draw their semi-circle behind the city.

Fighting Is Heavy

The heaviest fighting was reported by the Soviet communique last night in the Volokolamsk and Stalingorsk sectors. They are 65 miles northwest and 120 miles southeast of the city, where the Nazi lines turn in, one column evidently trying to skirt strongly defended Tula and push northward and another, pointed southward, reported at Solnetschnogorsk, only 31 miles from Moscow.

Predict Holiday Shopping Rush

BY IRVING PERLMETER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—(AP)—A bumper Christmas shopping season was predicted today by Commerce Department experts who looked for all retail trade during the holiday period to reach an all-time high of almost $6,000,000,000.

This would be about $1,000,000,000 more than went into the store tills for all retail trade last Christmas season.

From a business standpoint, this season looks the best ever, the experts said, both because of the huge stocks of available merchandise and because of the swollen size of public purchasing power resulting from the defense boom. About the only thing the stores are short of are silk stockings.

One factor that may swell the sales totals is the fact that, barring a sudden peace, this will be the last Christmas for some time that the stores will have the usual variety of merchandise, priorities, scarcities and substitutions are beginning to affect production of consumer goods, but the bulk of this Christmas' goods were manufactured before the pinch came.

Except that toys will have a somewhat heavier military motif—more lead soldiers, more uniforms for both boys and girls, and more mechanical tanks and other warlike gadgets—the experts said the stores were offering about the same choice of goods as in previous years.

Long before the war, the United States displaced Germany in the leadership of the toy industry, and domestic glass companies have already more than made good the lack of German tree ornaments. Some of the Latin American countries are replacing, to a certain extent, the French and Czech specialties, and this country has taken over the remainder in its own workshops.

One thing the war won't affect is Christmas trees. Most of them come from this country's own woods, and the only other important source for the United States is neighboring Canada.

For No Change In 1941 Income Taxes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the treasury wanted no change in income taxes on this year's income of either individuals or corporations.

The treasury head said he was making this announcement in order to satisfy numerous inquiries from the public resulting from confusion about new tax proposals now being formulated by the treasury and in congress.

So far as the treasury is concerned, Morgenthau said, any recommendations about new taxes would not apply to 1941 incomes.

The secretary declined again, however, to give any details of the tentative treasury proposals for next year. He refused also to comment on a public suggestion of Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the Federal Reserve Board that the new taxes first "tap the long purses rather than the short ones."

Eccles said he preferred higher taxes on corporations and the higher and middle individual income brackets rather than additional levies on the incomes of the lower income group. Unofficial reports have indicated that the treasury might propose heavier taxes on the low income groups.

Morgenthau remarked that Eccles had not sent him a copy of the speech and he had not read it. It was delivered Tuesday night in New York.

"I have been going along and trying not to make trouble for anyone," Morgenthau said, "but you know it is difficult to get everyone to row to the same stroke that the coxswain calls."

While declining to express any opinion on suggestions for a compulsory savings program, Morgenthau said such proposals were being considered along with all other methods of preventing inflation.

In his announcement that the treasury sought no changes in 1941 income taxes, the secretary

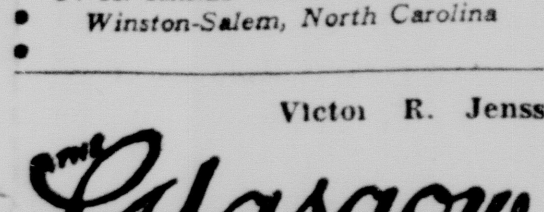

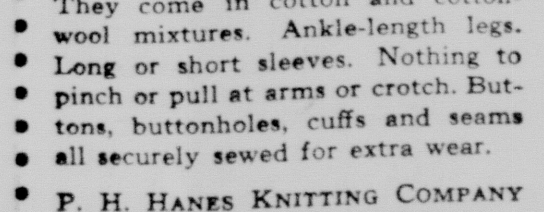

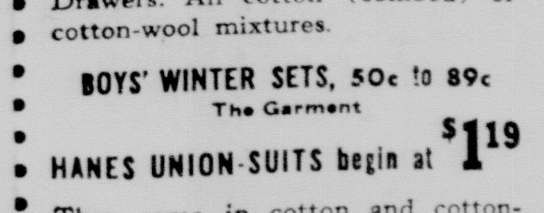

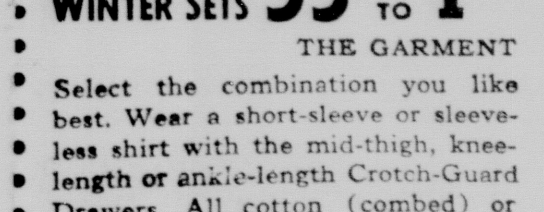

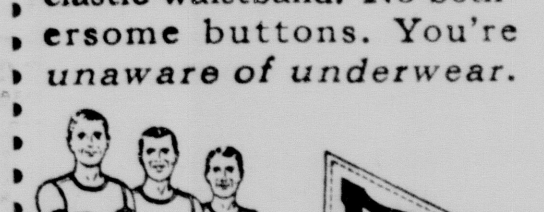

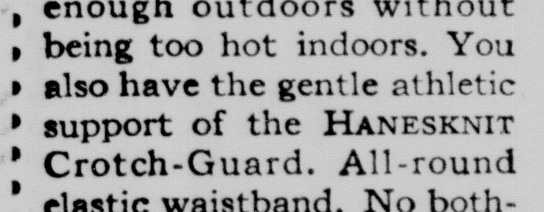

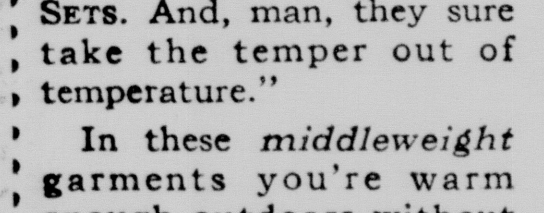

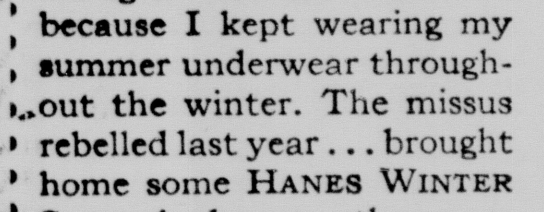

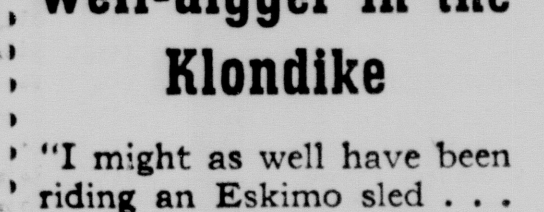

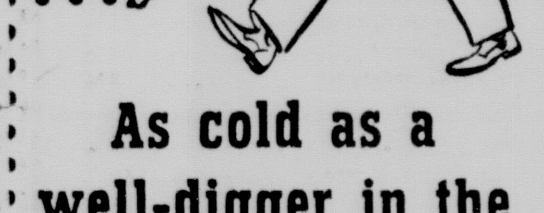

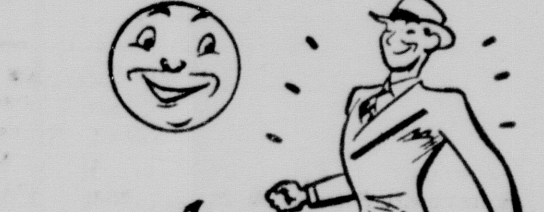

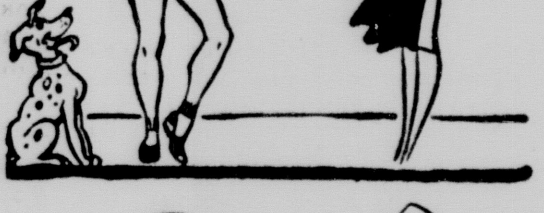

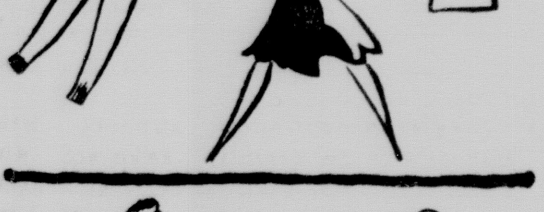

Society and Clubs

One of the most entertaining and unique programs of the season was presented by Mrs. Helen Dunton Gilchrist of Chicago, on "Sea Lore," at the Helen G. Steele Music Club Wednesday afternoon at the Heard Memorial clubhouse.

With paintings of famous old ships to illustrate her lecture and well chosen sea songs to vivify her piano recital, Mrs. Gilchrist brought a tang of salt adventure to an appreciative midwestern audience.

Beginning with the voyage of the "Mayflower," the narrator-traveler, traced the development of early American ships and skipper. It illustrated the portentious Mayflower voyage, Mrs. Gilchrist played "1620" by MacDowell, a piano narrative of the trip.

Some interesting points of the lecture were tales of the pepper isles of the Malay archipelago; the supernatural feeling toward the figureheads of the old clipper ships; the story of Donald McKay, the greatest of the old clipper ship builders; the human qualities of the old ships and the devotion of their masters; the romantic and imaginative names of the sailing ships, the most famous of which was the "Flying Cloud."

Other facts related by the speaker were the rivalry between the fleets of fast American ships and speedy English tea-clippers; the picturesque life of sailors before the mast; the typical departure and return of farm boys to taste of sea life (illustrated by MacDowell's "Song," an imaginary voyage on an old clipper punctuated by tall tales of the sea.

Music on the old ships was almost continuous, Mrs. Gilchrist said. The chautauque, a not-so-hard working sailor job, was to inspire the other sailors by the rhythmic sea songs as they worked. Mrs. Gilchrist played several old sea chanteys: "The Wide Missouri," a love-sick "evening" chant; "What To Do With a Drunken Sailor," "A Hundred Years Ago," one of the "Heave-Ho" type; "Leave Her Johnny, Leave Her," a rhythmic work song; "Blow The Man Down," with much of the ocean-lilt, and well known even today.

Mrs. Gilchrist passed around samples of carving done by sailors when becalmed; a pastry wheel carved from a whale's tooth, yellowed with age and the various spices of the old spice box in which it was kept; a tiny rolling pin carved from mahogany and a tiny clipper ship in a bottle.

Many women sailed on the clipper ships with their sea-captain husbands, she commented. Many more waited in Cape Cod homes for the husbands and sweethearts who might or might not return.

The speaker described the interior of a sea captain's cottage with its treasures from all over the world, a portrait of the captain painted by an artist in a foreign port, and a painting of his ship.

"The Sea," a modern selection descriptive of angry waters, by the Finnish composer, Palmgren, was an exciting exponent of an ocean storm, and a fitting climax to a most interesting program.

The meeting was opened with a tribute to the memory of the late Dr. E. F. Yancey, husband of Mrs. Beulah Harris Yancey, life president of the Helen G. Steele Music Club.

A group of neighbors and friends met at the home of Mrs. Ed Hixon, 1825 South Beacon avenue Tuesday, and surprised her on the occasion of her birthday. Dinner, to which all contributed, was enjoyed by the following guests: Mrs. L. E. Arnold, Mrs. E. C. Smith, Mrs. Esther Nicholson, Mrs. Ralph Nicholson, Mrs. Elmer Coon, and triplets, Gary, Larry and Jerry, Mrs. L. E. Whitehead and son, Bobby, Mrs. S. L. Oswald, Mrs. M. H. Engler, Ed Hixon and Mrs. Jay Nicholson and daughter, Barbara.

Regulations Given For Mailing Christmas Gifts

The approach of the Christmas holidays brings to the attention of the public, rules and regulations concerning mailing packages, cards and letters during the Christmas season.

Among the rules of the post-office are the following: Addresses—Address all matter plainly and completely in ink, giving street address or box or rural-route number whenever possible. Place sender's return card in upper left corner of address side. Tags should not be used unless necessary, in which case a copy of the address and return card should be placed inside the parcel for identification if tag is lost.

Packing and wrapping—Pack articles carefully in strong, durable containers. Wrap parcels securely, but do not seal them except when bearing a printed label or endorsement, reading: "Contents, merchandise"—Postmaster: This parcel may be opened for postal inspection if necessary, together with name and address of sender, as sealed parcels not subject to postage at the letter rate. The name and address of the sender may be handwritten or typewritten on the labels.

Perishable matter—Parcels containing perishable articles should be prominently endorsed with the word "perishable" by postmasters or other postal employees. Articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation should not be accepted for mailing. Limit of size—Parcels may not exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined.

Limit of weight—The limit of weight of fourth-class or parcel-post matter is 70 pounds for all zones, including Manila, Iloilo, Cebu, Zamboanga, Davao, and Baguio, P. I., but parcels for other places in those islands may not exceed 20 pounds.

Permissible additions and enclosures—Parcels may be marked "Do not open until Christmas," this being permitted in order to encourage early mailing.

Written greetings, such as "Merry Christmas," "Happy New Year," "With Best Wishes," and names, numbers, or symbols, for the purpose of description, may be enclosed with third or fourth-class (parcel-post) mail. Books may bear simple dedicatory inscriptions not of a personal nature. Other written additions subject parcels to letter postage.

Do not enclose letters in parcels, as doing so would subject entire parcel to letter postage. Communications prepaid at the first-class rate by securely attaching the envelopes containing the letters or other written matter to the outside of parcels. (See art. 55, p. 18, July 1941, Postal Guide.)

Seals—Christmas seals or stickers should not be placed on the address side of mail.

Stamps—Mailing may save time by buying postage stamps in advance.

Loosens Up Thick Choking Phlegm of BRONCHIAL ASTHMA!

Spent 45c today at Star Drug Co., McFarland - Robinson, Drug, Crown Drug Co., or any drug store for a bottle of Buckley's CANADIOL Mixture (triple strength). Four yourself a teaspoonful, let it lie on your tongue a moment then swallow slowly. Feel its instant powerful effective action spread through throat, head and bronchial tubes. Start at once to loosen thick, choking phlegm making breathing easier.

No claim is made that Buckley's is a cure for Bronchitis or Asthma but sufferers often find Buckley's CANADIOL Mixture (the largest selling cough medicine in all Canada) starts right in to quiet coughing spasms and loosen up that choking phlegm which seems to clog the tubes and makes breathing difficult. It helps many to get a better night's rest.—Adv.

The Washington Merry-go-Round

• by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Republican National Chairman Joe Martin isn't advertising it yet, but he has found an issue which he thinks may swing the House of Representatives against Roosevelt in 1942. It is the "Raw Deal given to Little Business Men by the New Deal."

This has the New Deal itself frantically worried, for the latest defense experiment to protect little business has just blown up.

This is the inside reason behind the trip of Floyd Odlum to the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn. Officially it's ulcers. But back of that is worry over failure to spread war contracts among little business men.

It hasn't been announced yet, but Odlum is getting out. He's going back to Wall Street where he finds running his business a lot easier than trying to take war contracts away from big business and give them to little business.

Odlum, who is head of the Atlas corporation, outsmarted some of the best brains in Wall Street, but he found he couldn't break through the rampart of army-navy brass hats, the OPM one-dollar-men and all the other red tape artists who believed in throwing contracts in the easiest direction—to big business—and letting little business go into bankruptcy.

Wall Street Wizard Odlum set up the Contracts Distribution Division of OPM, but after he has spent three months in masterminding, the little business problem is still as acute as when Odlum tackled it. If anything it's worse. The vehemence and number of complaints have increased so greatly that Democratic leaders are up in arms and have taken their fears direct to the White House.

Defense Stepchild
Odlum has accomplished some results. He has doubled sub-contracting. But these orders, impressive by themselves, have not kept pace with the rapid widening and deepening of the little business crisis—as material, labor and other shortages have increasingly curtailed non-defense production.

Drastically needed is a surgical reorganization of the whole defense contracting system, making little business an integral part of defense production instead of a stepchild to whom a few scraps are thrown occasionally when its yelling becomes annoying.

The big complaint against Odlum is that instead of tackling this basic difficulty immediately, he built up an elaborate administrative organization that looked grandiose on paper but did not keep the wolf from the door of small business. Time is of the essence these fast-moving days. Scores of little plants are shutting down daily. Good intentions, no matter how good, won't keep them going.

Odlum was too polite, too anxious to get along with people, was too steeped in Wall Street salve. He talked about joining the army and trying to do his job as a commissioned officer. What he needed to do was get up and squawk until he got something for little business.

The only thing he got was ulcers—for himself.

John L. Lewis' "Evil Old Man"
It has been a long time since Jack Garner and the late Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas went to see the president of the United States about John L. Lewis. But the ex-vice-president, sitting in his stocking feet on his front porch in Uvalde these days, still remembers it.

As Mr. Garner tells the story, he was a bit worried for fear he would not have the nerve to speak his mind fully to the president, so he slipped a pint bottle of rye into his pocket. And when he got to the White House he went into a washroom and took a couple of healthy swigs.

"Then I stepped in," recounts Garner, "and I said, 'Franklin, this man Lewis will sink you. You may not realize it now, but if you let him stay in the same boat with you, he'll sink you in the end.'"

Garner says that he spoke his piece with considerable vigor but he feared it made little impression—at least at the time.

NOTE: It was some time later that Lewis called Garner "an evil, whiskey-drinking, poker-playing old man."

Slow Mexican Relations

The new agreement with Mexico is one of the most important recent contributions to our Good Neighbor policy. But the inside facts that the president and his advisers required a long time to sell it to Secretary of State Hull. He didn't seem to like it at all.

Actually the Mexican agreement was negotiated on September 1. Although the president approved it almost immediately, Cordell Hull held it up for two months and nineteen days.

The agreement provides for the stabilization of the Mexican peso in the same way we have helped to peg the pound sterling; for a Mexican road building program underwritten by the United States; also a trade treaty; and a cash payment by Mexico on claims of American citizens. Finally, it lays the ground for conciliation of the oil dispute which has disrupted American-Mexican relations for several years.

It was this oil proposal which apparently got in Cordell Hull's craw.

However, October 1 was finally set for the signing of the agreement, and the Mexicans brought their minister of finance, Eduardo Saurez, up from Mexico City. But suddenly something happened, and the State Department postponed the signing until October 5.

Then, as the Mexicans once again were ready to sign, the State Department postponed once more. Again there was a mysterious wait. Then Secretary Morgenthau actually told the press that the agreement would be signed October 12.

But once again, as the Mexicans prepared for the final formality, the State Department held up the deal.

Standard Oil In Background

The president had approved the agreement. Secretary Morgenthau had OK'd his end of it. Jesse Jones had approved the $30,000,000 credit for road building, and Undersecretary of State Welles had worked out all the details. But the secretary of state needed more time. Undersecretary Welles advised that no one rush his chief; so everyone sat tight for almost another month.

Finally, the date of November 19 was set for the signature. The Mexican delegates sat in the Mayflower hotel. A bellboy paged "Mr. Farish and Mr. Armstrong." It was William S. Farish and Thomas R. Armstrong, president and vice-president of Standard Oil of New Jersey, being summoned to their last conference with Mr. Hull.

The secretary of state finally had been won over. In the end he issued a nice statement in favor of the agreement, though also insisting to the end that the agreement did NOT bind the oil companies.

Please Pass the Catch-up

Five years ago, CIO organizers were being greeted at Henry Ford's River Rouge plants with fists and brickbats. Today three of the leading CIO organizers have been invited guests of Henry Ford at luncheon.

Henry Ford seems to have gone all the way. Once reaching the decision to accede to union organization of his plant, after an election showed that an overwhelming majority of his employees wanted it, Ford appears to have carried out his end of the deal. But there have been numerous slowdowns, sit-downs and let-downs at the Ford plant since the contract was signed, grave enough to cause CIO President Murray to caution his men to abandon such tactics and carry out their end of the contract.

Thus whatever honey may be served at the Ford-CIO love feast, it looks as though the food may also be liberally seasoned with catch-up. It is not merely necessary to reach agreements in industrial disputes; it is also necessary to abide by them.

So They Say

It is impossible for morality and patriotism to thrive in a free democracy when religion is neglected.—Most Rev. John Mark Gannon, Bishop of Erie.

The man with a few drinks feels cocky. Those with the heavier loads seem to realize that they must be cautious.—Superintendent Henry W. Johnson, Kansas City traffic police.

Enslaved workers the world over look to their American brothers for the production of the weapons which will make them free again.—President Roosevelt to the CIO.

Wherever an American nation is, there its sister nations of this hemisphere must be, and we will be among them, ready to act in the common defense.—Getulio Vargas, president of the United States of Brazil.

In spite of what some people say, I seek always to be a constitutional president.—President Roosevelt.

The manufacturer who can think of nothing better to do than to hurry up and dump himself into the government's lap is destroying free enterprise.—Donald Nelson, executive director, SPAB.

My best advice is, therefore, more action and less talk.—Leon Henderson, price administrator.

Looking Backward

• forty years ago •

The Central Business college excursion to Kansas City over the Missouri Pacific left this morning, with a large crowd aboard. Among those who are on the train are Fred Hughes, Al Poteet, Leon Fletcher, Harry Glenn, Will Cummings, Shortland Fannon, C. H. Allen, Will Glass Dr. A. H. Heaton, George Smith, James Capen, Prof. G. L. Coleman, Herb Stone-man, Frank Leach, E. J. Donnelly, T. J. Robb, Constable J. A. Robb, Prof. C. W. Roggins, Howard Bradley, John Letts, Mike Quinn and Gus Agee.

An excursion arrived this morning from Columbia, bringing the Douglas Stars, a colored football team, and about 80 other representatives. The Stars will meet the George R. Smith Deweys this afternoon.

Achievement Pins Presented To Many 4-H Club Members

Ralph Dow, Head Of Farm Bureau, Gives Inspirational Talk To Youths

The Pettis county court house assembly room was well filled with happy 4-H members, leaders, parents and friends last Saturday afternoon, when achievement pins and special awards were presented.

The Smelser club started the short program by repeating the national 4-H club creed in unison, then the assembly sang "America the Beautiful," led by Mrs. P. S. Read and accompanied by June Thompson of the Quisenberry club. A short playlet, "Follow the Gleam," which the Oak Grove club used at its local achievement program, was given as a suggestion for other clubs. The girls presenting the playlet were Rose Mary Klein, Stella Sperber, Anna Lee Harvey, Ruby Schumaker, Betty Klein and Ruth Harvey.

Inspirational Speech

Ralph Dow, president of the Pettis County Farm Bureau, made a short inspirational speech to the boys and girls as the farmers and homemakers of the future. He gave praise to their achievements and their opportunities of today.

J. U. Morris, county agent, presented the special awards.

Dorothy Wedgell of the Flat Creek Young America at Work club was recognized for having three different special awards. Having been named first in the county for clothing achievement she was presented a gold locket embossed with the 4-H emblem in the center, encircled with figures of needles, thread and shears. This medal was made possible by the Spool Cotton Company, as an award to encourage 4-H members in clothing work so they might learn more about how to dress appropriately, becoming and healthfully for all occasions and in keeping with a well planned budget.

She was also presented a book, "I Dare You," as a recognition for her leadership work. She also received mention as being in the high group in the state who were recognized for junior leadership.

Leadership Recognition

Three other junior leaders, Ruth Moon of Georgetown, Allen Oelrichs of Bunker Hill, and Edward Callis of the Hughesville Happy Helping Hand club were also presented "I Dare You" books for leadership recognition. These books were furnished by the Danforth Foundation, of which William Danforth, of St. Louis, is chairman. Ruth has served as leader of the Georgetown club this year and was assistant leader last year. Allen and Edward have each acted as project leaders in their clubs and have been largely responsible for much of the work accomplished.

Anna Catherine Romig, of the Dresden Community club, was presented a gold pin embossed with the four-leaf clover as being the outstanding "all around" home economics member. Anna Catherine has completed 15 projects in her eight years of club work. She placed with five others in the state blue ribbon group. This contest is one of the oldest special 4-H contests. Awards for it have been provided by Montgomery Ward for 19 consecutive years. Girls competing in this contest are considered for their variety of home economic projects as well as their period of work and their completions.

Home Beautification

For home grounds beautification work, Helen Bernice Price of La Monte was presented a specially embossed gold pin made by Mrs. Charles R. Wolgreen, garden enthusiast of Illinois. This contest is in recognition of yard improvement and flower work done by 4-H members. Helen Bernice also placed in the state blue ribbon group.

For food preparation work Odie Mae McKean, also of the La Monte Community club, received a gold pin in the shape of a refrigerator. This award was furnished by the Serval home service department for the outstanding member enrolled in food preparation during the year. Food preservation awards are made each year by the Kerr Canning company to the outstanding member in the canning project. The Pettis county girl this year was Wilma Sartain, of the Smithton Community club.

The boy recognized for the best all around work with meat animals was Jack Fowler, of the Hughesville Community club. He was presented a gold watch fob, which was provided by Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer, who has supported this contest for 11 years. Jack has been a baby beef project member for eight years.

Charters Presented

The charters were presented by Mr. Morris to each club organized. Gold seals will later be presented those clubs who meet all the specific regulations.

Mrs. Paul Read, home and community chairman of the Pettis County Farm Bureau, made the presentation of leaders and members pins. The leaders pins are provided each year by the home and community committee, of the Missouri farm bureau, of which Mrs. W. O. Redford, Johnson county, is chairman. The members pins were presented from a fund maintained by the Pettis County Farm Bureau, some Home Economics Extension clubs and a few individuals.

Although all members and leaders could not be present to receive their pins, the names of the 45 leaders and 305 members eligible for this recognition were read. The names of the Beaman Busy Bees, Houstonia Jolly Cooks, Bunker Hill Community, Snappy Smelser, Liberty Girls' and Boys' Poultry, Maplewood Health and First Aid and Ringen Workers clubs were especially recognized for 100 per cent completion.

The meeting closed by everyone repeating the national 4-H pledge led by Mrs. W. P. Tucker, 4-H council chairman, who presided during the afternoon.

Keep Farm Machinery In Good Order

Defense Needs Will Cut Supply Of New Machines

It is always good business for a farmer to keep his machinery in good order, and this will be especially true during the next year or two, points out M. M. Jones of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

Due to the shortage of steel and other materials, it appears that there will not be enough new farm machines made to meet the usual demands the coming year. With the decreased supply of farm labor and with the need for increased production for defense purposes, it is imperative that all usable farm machines be repaired and put into first class operating condition this fall and winter.

Repair parts should be bought or ordered at once. Dealers may not have all the desired parts in stock and there may be delay in getting new supplies. "We are assured that manufacturers will be allotted enough materials to make repair parts, but with the demands of defense work there are likely to be unavoidable delays," Jones continued. "It is important, therefore, that repair parts be ordered early."

Fortunately, most farm machines made in recent years can be repaired and made practically as good as new. Electric and acetylene welding has made it possible and economical to repair many parts that would otherwise have to be junked.

A farmer can make many of his repairs in his own shop. He can easily install new sections in the mower sickle, or new guards or guard plates. It is a good plan to keep a supply of these frequently-used parts on hand to avoid delay during harvest.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion to help you understand you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. Distribute Suggestions On Poultry

Advice On Feeding, Management, Sent To Pettis Countians

Poultry feeding and management suggestions are being distributed to every poultry raiser in Pettis county by Triple-A committeemen as a part of the national defense program. These brief essentials, as prepared for the Missouri United States Department of Agricultural defense board by poultry specialists of the agricultural extension service, are as follows:

Eggs are needed for better human nutrition in our own country and for export. It is patriotic and profitable to give your flock better care and secure more eggs. Check your production practices against this list of essentials.

Feeding and Management

1. Provide one mash hooper five feet long for each 50 hens. Keep these hoppers constantly supplied with a good quality laying mash. This mash should contain 1% fish oil from October 1st to April 1st. If you desire to use home mixed laying mash, which permits the use of larger amounts of homegrown feeds, obtain Extension Circular 424, Feeding for Egg Production, from your county agent.

2. Feed grain consisting of at least 1/2 yellow corn with wheat, oats, barley or grain sorghums in troughs or hoppers. Eggs are 2% water and cold weather production depends upon adequate water consumption as well as laying mash and grain. Use heater type fountains and be sure your hens drink at least 5 gallons of water per 100 hens every day. Hot water is not necessary, but the chill should be removed—(temperature 55 to 60 degrees.)

4. Oyster shell or limestone and grit, plus legume hay, are also important.

Comfortable Housing

1. Crowded laying houses lower profits, result in fewer eggs and more trouble with disease. Provide at least 3 square feet of floor space for each hen.

2. Provide 6 to 8 inches of roosting space per bird, and be sure that the hens have between 2 and 4 feet of space above them when perched on the roosts. Hens forced to roost at the ceiling level, where foul air accumulates, are less healthy and vigorous.

3. Ventilation is important. Hens require an abundance of fresh air without drafts. Loss from colds and roup are equally serious in "stuffy" houses and drafty ones. Provide one square foot of ventilation areas for each 15 square feet of floor space. Use an "open front" in houses measuring 18 feet or more from front to back. In houses of lesser depth, use muslin curtains on frames that are hinged at the bottom. Keep these frames open. A damp house usually means poor ventilation.

Prepare for Greater Production

1. Poultry profits depend upon the kind of chicks brooded and the way in which they are raised.

2. Order chicks in January for February, March, and April delivery. Get chicks of good breeding, sired by pedigree or R. O. P. males.

3. Get brooding equipment in order in January. Brood in small units, not more than 350 chicks under one brooder. Provide from 35 to 50 square feet of floor space per 100 chicks.

4. Provide the necessary equipment for sanitary and low cost rearing. Build a range shelter (family size or larger) and raise your pullets on uncontaminated ground to avoid worms and coccidiosis.

See County Agent

If you need more information on any of these points see your county agent. He has detailed plans for remodeling houses, building temporary low cost houses, or for making feeders, range shelters, lamp brooders for family flocks. The complete resources of the Missouri College of Agriculture and the United States Department of Agriculture are yours to command in helping you with your poultry problems in this national emergency, as well as in times of greater national security.

She Does Her Part For Defense

"Blackie," three-year-old grade Holstein cow owned by Dow Bros. Dairy, Sedalia, who believes in doing her part in producing more milk for national defense purposes. This cow headed the Pettis County Dairy Herd Improvement Association in October with a production of 62.5 pounds of butterfat and 1,277 pounds of milk.

USDA Defense Board Question Box

Q—What steps have been taken to determine the amount of new farm machinery needed in 1942?

A—County USDA defense boards throughout the nation made a survey which showed farmers expected to purchase seven per cent more new machinery than in 1940.

Q—Will farmers be able to get all the machinery needed?

A—Probably not. The availability of new machinery is questionable. OPM has stated farmers will be expected to continue operation with less new machinery. New purchases are to be held to 80 per cent of the 1940 figure.

Q—In view of the steel shortage, will farmers be expected to repair old machinery rather than buy new equipment?

A—Yes. Farmers are being urged to (1) check old machinery; (2) order necessary parts from dealers immediately; (3) notify the county defense boards if parts can not be obtained.

Q—Will sufficient materials be available to manufacture repairs for old machinery?

A—A sufficient supply of steel has been set aside for repair needs. However, orders must be placed immediately if they are to be filled within the next few months.

Q—What can farmers do to ease the machinery situation?

A—All farmers are requested to order repairs for their machinery now.

Give Tractors Special Care

Tractors should have special care when they are operated at temperatures below freezing, cautions M. M. Jones of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

Lighter oil should be used in the engine, and if the tractor is used at drawbar work the transmission oil should be changed to a lighter grade or thinned with kerosene or light motor oil. The operator's manual furnished by the manufacturer should be consulted for the proper grades of lubricants.

The use of too heavy motor oil will cause difficult starting, and undue wear of pistons and cylinders during the warm-up periods. Heavy transmission oil may not flow freely, resulting in inadequate lubrication and undue wear of gears and bearings. Lighter oil should be used in the oil-bath air cleaner.

Warming up the engine before putting it under load is always a good practice, and is especially important in cold weather. The engine should be kept hot while running. The radiator shutters or curtain should be adjusted so as to maintain the proper operating temperature.

A high-test winter grade of gasoline should be used for starting. It is a good plan to fill the fuel tank at the end of a run to prevent the condensation of water inside the tank. Water is also likely to condense and collect in the crankcase so that it is a good plan to loosen the oil drain plug occasionally and allow any accumulated water to drain out.

To Attend 4-H Club Congress

Miss Bonnie Jean Thompson and Dorothy Helen White will leave Saturday morning for Chicago, where they will spend the week at the National 4-H Club Congress and International Live Stock Show. They are being met at Marshall Junction by Miss Helen Church and Robert Clough, state 4-H agents, who will chaperon the trip.

They will go by auto to Kansas City and from there to Chicago by train. While in Chicago, Bonnie Jean will represent Missouri in the national 4-H style show and Dorothy Helen will represent the state in home furnishings judging.

Bonnie Jean is from the Quisenberry Hustlers Community 4-H club and Dorothy Helen from the Sunnyside Community club.

Northwestern University is building the "world's quietest room" for sound experiments. What'll you bet it wouldn't even face the average 3-year-old?

Quisenberry Association Plans Events

Community Group Arranges Activities For Coming Year

The new officers and committee members of the Quisenberry Community Association met at the Quisenberry school last Wednesday night and planned the association program and activities for 1942.

The officers of the association for the next year are: Orin Chappell, president; Raymond Neitzert, vice president and Bonnie Jean Thompson, secretary and treasurer.

The agriculture committee, composed of P. S. Read, chairman; Raymond Neitzert, O. F. Rank, Earl Thompson and H. A. Cook, plans to sponsor 4-H club work, a community slaughtering demonstration, a demonstration on flooring a hog house with bale straw and a men's beauty contest.

The educational committee, with Mrs. P. S. Read as chairman, Mrs. Raymond Neitzert, Mrs. R. W. Rissler, Mrs. G. S. Thompson and Miss Mary Lou Daniels, will have charge of the community graduation, a play contest, a meeting at which pictures will be shown.

Plan Improvements

The civics committee with Wiley Booth, chairman; R. W. Rissler, G. S. Thompson and J. J. Stober, plans community improvements by widening and improving the Quisenberry road, getting one gate on ten different farms hanging on hinges and sponsoring one meeting which will include pictures and one talk on a revenue project.

The social committee, composed of Mrs. Orin Chappell, chairman; June Thompson, Elmer Read, Ila Jane Bennett and Ralph Lane, plans 4-H functions including a "gay nineties" party, an ice cream social, a picnic supper and a weiner roast.

Since the members of the homemakers' committee were not present their program will be completed at a later date.

Monthly Programs

The monthly meeting programs planned by the group are as follows:

January: The educational committee in charge, includes pictures by Dr. J. E. Cannaday and a short program by the Glover school.

February: Declamatory contest and a short program by the High Point school with the educational committee in charge.

March: The agriculture committee plans the showing of Missouri State Fair pictures with a short program by the Quisenberry school.

April: The social committee will have their "Gay Nineties" party. May: The program will be in charge of the homemakers' committee.

June: Vacation time. July: The 4-H club leaders and members will present a 4-H club program.

August: Community picnic supper with the social committee in charge.

September: The homemakers' committee will sponsor a program on tuberculosis.

October: The civics committee will present the program which will either be pictures or a talk in connection with the program from Camp Branch school.

November: The group has asked for an exchange program with a neighboring community. Either Flat Creek or Smithton.

December: The chairman of all the committees will sponsor the Christmas program.

Believes 1942 Sign-Up Will Exceed 1941

AAA Head Makes Estimate On Basis Of Early Reports

On the basis of early reports from community AAA committeemen, the sign-up for the Triple-A farm program for 1942 will be greater than last year, according to B. C. Claycomb, Pettis county AAA chairman.

"In fact," Claycomb said, "the present rate of sign-up among farmers indicates the largest participation in the eight-year history of the Triple-A program. Farmers are being asked this year to cooperate with the adjustment and conservation features of the AAA and to increase production of needed foods under the Food for Freedom program."

Township AAA committeemen began the farm-to-farm canvass in October. The canvass will continue until December 1, when all counties will report sign-up results to state AAA headquarters at Columbia.

Claycomb said the county canvass is about 97 per cent complete. Reports from committeemen indicate that about 85 per cent of the farmers in the county will have pledged cooperation with the farm program.

In 1941, the final sign-up figures showed that 78 per cent of the farmers agreed to cooperate with the Triple-A farm program. The highest sign-up previously reported in Pettis county was in 1941, when 70 per cent of the farmers cooperated.

The chairman attributes the 1942 increase to the fact that the Triple-A program has been revised to permit expansion of sec-

Show Deficiency Of Vitamin A

According to recent research reported in the Journal of American Dietetics Association 63.1 per cent of 1,000 cases of childhood type tuberculosis studied show a deficiency of Vitamin A.

Foods which supply this valuable food element are butter, carrots, cheese, eggs, liver, pumpkin, spinach, squash, sweet potatoes, turnip greens, bananas, yellow corn, cream, kidney, lettuce, whole milk, soy beans, and prunes and broccoli. These foods are easily recognized as the leafy green or yellow foods.

84.6 per cent of those same cases showed a deficiency of Vitamin C which is found in tomatoes, oranges, grapefruit, lemons, cabbage, peppers, cauliflower, liver, parsnips, green peas and turnips.

ondary feed crops, while still making adjustments in the acreages of surplus crops such as wheat, corn and cotton. He also pointed out that farmers are becoming more familiar with the Triple-A program and its advantages.

A farmer will be in compliance with the farm program in 1942 when he plants within corn, wheat, cotton and tobacco allotments and keeps at least 20 per cent of his cropland in soil-conserving crops.

Charge Murder By Two Boys

CUMBERLAND, Ky., Nov. 27.—(P)—Two 16-year-old boys who were arrested in the slaying of Ward Loveless, 51, Washington attorney, were returned to Virginia today, several hours after their capture.

E. D. Helms of the Leesburg, Va., police department, said the youths, Paul Bernard Hoback, 16, Bluefield, W. Va., and Tommie Peters, 16, Leesburg, had been charged with murder.

The two boys were arrested shortly before dawn at a hotel in Appalachia, Va.

Cumberland Patrolman Jimmy Johnson quoted the boys as admitting robbing and beating Loveless but denied knowing the capitol lawyer was dead. Johnson said both boys admitted "some shots were fired," during a scuffle.

At Leesburg, Va., Claude Honick, partner of Loveless in his agriculture interests, disclosed meanwhile that Hoback had been employed as a farm hand on the Loveless estate but said he had been discharged five weeks ago "because he was sullen and wouldn't work."

Johnson said both boys were unarmed when arrested but that police found several loads for an automatic pistol in their possession.

Advance Due To Extreme Need

MONETT, Mo., Nov. 27.—(P)—W. Vance Davis, treasurer of the North Barry county Red Cross Chapter, explained today that extreme need of the J. W. Gordon family led the Red Cross to adopt the unusual procedure of advancing $6 to two men for a union application fee.

The union fee advance was disclosed after George Walker Gordon, 19, died Tuesday from pellagra and Dr. Elburn A. Smith, Barry county physician, termed his death "a plain case of starvation."

Davis said the Red Cross gave the money—$3 each to George and his father—so they could obtain work at Camp Crowder, army construction project, and that he did not know if any effort had been made to waive the union fee. He said he knew of no other instance where funds were advanced similarly.

Records at Neosho, camp headquarters, showed the two belonged to Laborers and Hod-Carriers Union, an A. F. of L. affiliate. George worked two days and his father 10. Officials said they believed that the father's job still was open.

Celebration Is Held At School

The annual birthday party celebration in honor of the late John Homer Bothwell was held at the Bothwell school Sunday.

Friends and patrons of the school, built by Mr. Bothwell and named for him, met at the school at noon with well filled baskets and a bountiful feast was enjoyed.

Five Years Term Is Given Slayer

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 27.—(P)—William H. Carey, 44, a tavern operator, was convicted of manslaughter by a circuit court jury late yesterday and sentenced to five years in prison for the shooting of a friend, Jack Davis, 31.

Donald Murphy, assistant prosecutor, sought to show that Davis fought to prevent Carey from shooting Mrs. Carey, when she insisted on going to party with him after the tavern closed the night of May 6.

Carey, pleading self defense, testified Davis cursed and attacked him after Carey advised Mrs. Carey that they'd better not go to the party because both had to work the next day.

St. Joseph May Get A Defense Plant

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 27.—(P)—St. Joseph is in line for a defense plant, says J. A. Williams, managing director of the St. Joseph Plant, Inc.

Williams said he was authorized by government officials to disclose that much and that he believed the plant would be either a quartermaster or munitions depot. A site of from 8,000 to 12,000 acres will be needed, he said, and three prospective sites are under consideration.

Parents of a Son

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Shepherd, route 5, are parents of a son, born Wednesday evening at the Bothwell hospital.

Cecil Powell Is Arrested

Cecil Powell, 508 South Summit avenue, was picked up late Wednesday night by the police on information from the state highway patrol he was wanted at California, Mo., on a bad check charge. The sheriff of Monticau county has been notified to get him at the Pettis county jail.

Is Another Williams

Robert "Bob" Williams, who was fined in the Justice of the Peace court of Albert I. Cross at La Monte for giving a bad check, is not the "Bob" Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams of 1714 West Sixteenth streets. The party fined has been arrested numerous times. Neither is it Robert "Bob" Williams, manager of the Main Street Auto Parts.

One Killed and Five Injured In Collision

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Nov. 27.—(P)—One man was fatally hurt and five other persons were injured, all seriously, in a head-on collision of two automobiles on highway 60 near Dexter today. R. L. Scheeks, 67, of Wardell, Mo., died soon after being brought to a Poplar Bluff hospital. In the car with him were Forest Riley and Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Meeks, also of Wardell. In the other car were Don Metz of Quin, Mo., and a youth not immediately identified. All were in hospitals here in semi-conscious condition.

Son In Army Is Killed In Alaska

MOBERLY, Mo., Nov. 27.—(P)—John Huston, a farmer south of Higbee, Mo., has been advised by war department telegram of the death of his son, Chester Houston, 20. It was the third accidental death in the family.

The war department message said Chester died of "accidental gunshot wounds while on army duty in Fort Richards, Alaska. It said particulars would be written later. The youth's body will be sent to Higbee for burial.

The young soldier's mother died of injuries suffered when she was knocked down by a sheep. A brother died after he was kicked by a horse.

Three other brothers survive.

Col. Hitch Is Regents Head

BOONVILLE, Mo., Nov. 27.—Col. A. M. Hitch president and superintendent of Kemper Military School here was elected president of the board of regents of the Central Missouri State Teachers College at Warrensburg Tuesday by the board.

Col. Hitch has been a member of the board of regents for the last four years and has been vice-president for the last two. Kemper's third superintendent in the school's 97 years, Col. Hitch has been associated with Kemper for the past 42 years. He was appointed superintendent in 1928, and has been the head of the school since that time.

Dr. May To Speak On Nationalism

Dr. Harry S. May, rabbi of the Temple Beth El will speak on "Does Nationalism Menace World Peace?" at services Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The question of a sound nationalism is widely discussed nowadays among all classes, groups, organizations and even churches. The speaker has studied the growth of nationalism in the various countries during the last 150 years. He will show the advantages and abuse of nationalism within the forms of government as we have them today and what we can do in order to preserve a lasting peace built on moral and religious precepts, on ethical decency and open mindedness.

Birthday Feast Held By Church

The annual birthday dinner of Broadway Presbyterian church was given in the Service building Wednesday evening with about one hundred fifty in attendance.

The Sunshine committee of the church visits members who are ill, sends cards and flowers, and in many ways spreads sunshine among the congregation. At this annual meeting each brings what they call their "birthday offering" and the money is used to finance the good works.

W. M. Johns led group singing for the program which followed the dinner. Mrs. John M. Rodeman and Abe Rosenthal played a violin duet, accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Peterson, and the principal address of the evening was made by Senator George H. Miller.

The Rev. H. M. Janssen is pastor of the church.

Charge Altering Patients' Accounts

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 27.—(P)—A $1,055 shortage in the personal accounts of patients in the St. Joseph state hospital was charged today in an audit report filed with Gov. Forrest C. Donnell.

The audit offered no explanation for the shortage. It said alterations in patient's accounts ranged from $3 to $200. One account had disappeared entirely, the auditors said. Alterations in the books were made by chemical erasures.

The report said the shortage of $1,055 was the minimum figure and charged the amount might be much larger if complete records could be found. The reported shortage covered all records in existence.

The audit was completed Sept. twenty-sixth.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

AMERICAN mothers recently received a challenge—one that can easily be met and defeated. Army medical records show that their boys hadn't been well-fed prior to going into service. This doesn't mean that they hadn't eaten well. Instead, it means they hadn't eaten wisely.

During the course of a week, the report shows, the average American should consume six quarts of milk; 1½ pounds potatoes; 1 ounce dried peas or beans; 5 pounds of food rich in vitamin C, such as oranges and tomatoes; 3 pounds of leafy green vegetables; 6 pounds of other fruits and vegetables; 9 eggs; 3 pounds lean meat, poultry or fish; 1 pound, 12 ounces flour and cereals; 1 pound, 2 ounces of fats, and 1 pound, 2 ounces of sugar. Plenty of substitutions are suggested—cheese for milk, and variations of "green leafy vegetables," including green beans, carrots, cabbage and kale. By watching the food specials during the week, and buying foods that are inexpensive, the housewife can keep this list within a small budget. The result will be a family well fed.

Based on special buys in the market this week, Marion Rouse Budd, of the A & P Kitchen, has prepared the following menus at different price levels, paying particular attention to the "musts" suggested by U. S. nutritionists:

Low Cost Dinner

Braised Lamb Breast
Scalloped Potatoes and Cabbage
Lettuce with French Dressing
Bread and Butter
Cranberry and Tapioca Pudding
Tea or Coffee

Medium Cost Dinner

Cranberry Juice
Swiss Steak
Lima Beans Baked with Bacon
Corn Sticks
Hot Chicory Salad Bowl
Bread and Butter
Cocoanut Custard Pie
Tea or Coffee

Very Special Dinner

Cream of Tomato Soup
Celery Hearts
Planked Steak with Mashed Potato
Nests alternated with Glazed Carrots, Broiled Mushrooms and Broiled Tomatoes
Fresh Rolls
Steamed Cranberry Pudding with Foamy Sauce
Tea or Coffee

Vegetable Plate With Cheese Sauce (Six servings)

One head of cauliflower, 6 tomatoes, 1 teaspoon chopped onion, 2 tablespoons butter, melted; 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper, 2 cups whole kernel corn, 1 egg, beaten; ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, one No. 2 can whole green string beans, 1 tablespoon butter.

Place cauliflower in a 2-quart glass saucepan, partly cover with boiling water. Cook uncovered for 15 to 18 minutes or until tender. Add salt. Remove center from each tomato; thoroughly mix together onion, butter, pepper, corn, egg and seasonings. Fill the centers of each tomato with this mixture. Place in layer cake pan and bake in moderate oven (350 F.) about 30 minutes. Heat string beans in their own juice. Add one tablespoon butter. Drain cauliflower in resistant platter. Arrange tomatoes around the outside of platter with string beans between each tomato, and serve with cheese sauce.

Boned Pork Shoulder With Apple and Raisin Stuffing

(Serves 8 to 10)

Four pounds pork shoulder, boned; 3 cups applesauce, 2 cups steamed raisins, 1 cup whole wheat bread crumbs, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup parsley.

In purchasing pork shoulder, have the butcher cut a pocket in it. Fill with dressing made of the above ingredients which have been thoroughly mixed. Sew pocket together loosely but securely, and sear meat on all sides under broiler. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for two hours.

We are giving you a recipe for apple butter spice cake which we found delicious. During November when so many different varieties of apples are on the market, it seems almost imperative to include them many times in our week's menus.

Apple Butter Spice Cake (Eight to 10 servings)

Two cups cake flour, sifted, 1 teaspoon baking soda, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon allspice, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg (unbeaten), 1 cup raisins, 1½ cups apple butter.

Sift together flour, soda and spices. Beat butter until creamy; add sugar gradually, beating until light and fluffy. Add egg, beat well into mixture; add raisins. Add flour alternately with apple butter, a small amount at a time beating until smooth after each addition. Pour into two-square greased pan. Bake about 70 minutes in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). When cool, cover with apple butter icing.

Bran Dumplings

(Six servings)

One cup sifted flour, 1 cup bran, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon shortening, 1 cup milk. Mix together well the dry ingredients. Cut in fat, add milk, stirring quickly to make a soft dough. Drop by spoonfuls on top of stew, making sure dough rests on pieces of meat and vegetables. Cover and cook 15 to 18 minutes.

Cheese Sauce

Two tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 2 cups grated cheese, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon salt.

Melt butter, remove from heat and blend in flour. Return to the range and add milk a small amount at a time, stirring constantly until thickened. Cook about 5 minutes longer until starchy taste remains. Stir in grated cheese, parsley and salt. Serve at once.

An excellent way to get whole grain food, rich in B-1 and thiamin, into the diet, is to serve bran dumplings with inexpensive lamb stew made with breast and shoulder cuts.

Spiced Apple Muffins

2 1/2 cups sifted flour
3/4 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 1/4 cups milk
1/2 cup shortening, melted
1 cup apples, chopped fine
Apple wedges
2 teaspoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Sift flour with baking powder, salt, spices and sugar. Combine beaten egg, milk and melted shortening. Turn liquids into dry ingredients and stir until all flour is dampened. The batter will look lumpy. Fold apples carefully into mixture. Pour batter into muffin tins greased. Lay an apple wedge on top of each muffin. Sprinkle with mixture of sugar and spices. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 12 large muffins.

Jiffy Cranberry Refrigerator Cake

1 egg white
2 cups cranberry sauce
1 sponge cake
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Fold stiffly beaten egg white into cranberry sauce. Arrange alternate layers of sliced sponge cake and sauce in pan, finishing with cake. Place a weight on top. Chill. Unfold and garnish with whipped cream. Serves 6.

Sausage Facts
The word, sausage, is taken from the Latin, salsus, meaning salted and, in its original application, meant, literally, cured or salted meat. In its present usage, sausage as a term takes in many products not strictly "cured" but salt still plays an important role in their preparation.

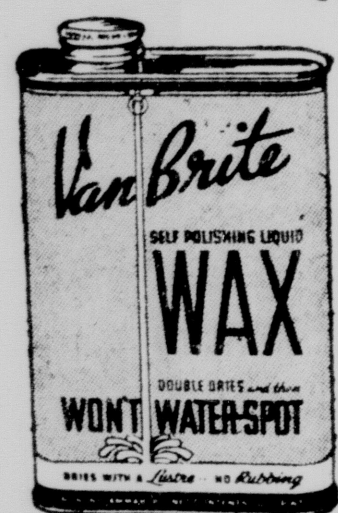

Orange Custard

(Six servings)
Two cups milk, 2 eggs, slightly beaten; 1/4 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon orange juice, 2 oranges peeled and cut into sections, 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped.

Scald milk. Combine eggs, salt and sugar, gradually stir in hot milk, return to double boiler and cook over hot water 5 minutes or until the mixture coats the spoon, stirring constantly. Add orange juice, cool quickly. Place one-half of the orange sections in six custard cups, dividing equally. Pour cooled custard over the oranges. Garnish with the remaining orange sections. Chill thoroughly. Serve with whipped cream. This is a delicious dessert and especially good for invalids and children.

Did you ever make upside down rolls the KARO way?

For Sunday breakfast or supper, these delicious Karo Buns will make your family "sit up and take notice". They're so flavorful, so satisfying... and really easy to make. Just follow this recipe:

KARO ROLLS

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 cup shortening
1/2 cup milk

1/2 cup melted butter
2 tsp. granulated sugar
1/2 cup Karo (blue label)
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/4 cup chopped dates

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening. Add milk slowly, to form a soft dough. Roll out on a lightly floured board into a rectangle 8x2 inches about 1/4 inch thick. Brush with 2 tsp. of the melted butter; sprinkle with sugar, then roll up as for jelly roll. Cut into pieces 1 inch wide. Mix Karo with the remaining melted butter. Add nuts and dates, and spread in bottom of greased 8-inch cake pan, or in large muffin pans. Arrange circles of dough cut side down on top of Karo mixture. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes or until brown. Makes 14 to 16 rolls.

Serial Story . . .

Lady By Request

. . . by Helen R. Woodward

Copyright 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: "I don't like it," says Mr. Tucker, farmer father of beautiful, red-headed Diana, when she comes home to tell him that she has married Stephen Curt, writer and commentator, has asked her to marry him for six months and $10,000 so that he can save a $2,000,000 inheritance he will lose unless he works before he is 35. "I don't like it, but we will see when I meet him," Diana, freed from her job in a law office in the city after resisting advances from her employer, Richard Thorpe, is seriously considering the offer because Stephen has told her that the woman he loves is married to another man, and because she does not want to leave the city, return to the farm, perhaps marry Bill Jackson whom she does not love. Stephen is coming down to meet her family the next day, Diana already having met his stepmother, Ellen Curt. That night Mr. Tucker, listening to Stephen's broadcast, expresses again his admiration for the man.

STEPHEN MEETS THE FAMILY

CHAPTER VII

ON Tuesday afternoon Diana walked down to Bill Jackson's store at the cross-roads. Her mother had gone off to a missionary meeting at the church and she had become so bored with her own company that she could stand it no longer.

Bill greeted her effusively. "Well, this is an honor. Take the chair by the fire."

He puttered about making her comfortable, hanging up her coat and hat. Diana laughed. "I haven't come to stay a week, you know, Bill."

"Now that I've got you here I won't be letting you go soon."

She glanced about at the orderly shelves. There was a little of everything in Bill's store. A "general" store, it was called. Canned goods, produce, hams, dry goods, thread, fishing tackle, overalls—the people of the countryside could buy almost anything they needed here. Bill was an excellent storekeeper—gentle, friendly, talkative. They all liked him. He was one of them. And Diana knew that the business was slowly but surely making him wealthy.

As she sat by the fire, she watched the customers come and go. She knew most of them and they all called greetings to her. They were interested to know why she was home, when she was going back. "It's not curiosity," Diana thought, "just friendly interest."

During the lulls in business, Bill came and sat beside her and talked. He spoke interestingly and well. You'd think he'd had a lot more than a high school education. That was because he read so much and kept abreast of the times. They laughed about things that happened when they were in school. He told her about some of the boys and girls that she'd lost track of. He was in his element here in his own domain. Any constraint that had been present in his manner the night before had completely vanished. Here Bill Jackson was king.

Finally he stood looking down at her, his eyes earnest and intent, his mouth a little grim at the corners. She saw a pulse beating nervously in his brown throat.

"I don't suppose it's much use to say it again, Diana, but you know I love you."

"Thank you, Bill. I cherish that. But you're right. It's no use. I'm sorry."

She saw his shoulders droop and was terribly sorry for him. "Oh, Bill, why does it have to be like that between us? It's so pleasant just being friends with you—like this afternoon. Why don't you fall in love with someone who likes this sort of life and will make you a good, contented wife?"

He said, his jaw tightening. "You know anyone else after you would be like twilight after a lovely sunset?"

She was touched and the quick tears came. "That was a beautiful thing to say, Bill. But you've got to get over me. You can't go on like this always—hoping—because I'm afraid I'll never really love you like you want me to. You see, there's something—I can't tell you just yet."

"You're in love with someone else?"

"No—it's not that."

"Then you can't stop me from hoping."

Later Joey Cowan, the boy who helped in the store, came in to relieve Bill and he walked home with Diana, stayed for supper. They played Chinese checkers with Mr. and Mrs. Tucker until late.

Once more in her feathered nest with only her nose exposed to the cold air, Diana drifted off to sleep thinking, "Tomorrow Stephen's coming."

She awoke nervous and excited, accomplished her packing before going down to breakfast. Her mother and father seemed excited, too. They did not entertain such a distinguished guest every day. John stayed at home from school with his father's consent. "You'll probably learn more listening to Stephen Curt," Mr. Tucker said. And about 10:30 Stephen's big shining coupe swung up the driveway. Diana welcomed him at the door of the dining-sitting room.

He was like someone from another world, yet perfectly at home with her father and mother, talking interestedly with young John.

Drifts of their conversation came to her as she helped her mother prepare luncheon, or "dinner," as the Tuckers still called it. A healthy, substantial meal, well cooked and appetizing. Stephen Curt ate as if he enjoyed it thoroughly, won her mother's high regard by his compliments of her cooking.

Yet there was nothing strained, no appearance of striving for adjustments to his surroundings in his manner. Easy, charming, distinguished. Diana glowed with pride in him and the thought that they were at least friends. "Liked each other on sight," Stephen had said. She'd treasure that, no matter what their future relationship might become.

After the meal her father said, "Would you like to go out to the barn with me, Mr. Curt? I'd like for you to see the new calf." And Diana knew that they would discuss the marriage in her father's stronghold.

She watched them go and wondered what would be the result of the conference. Would she want to go through with the strange affair if her father still could not place the stamp of his approval upon it? And what of Stephen Curt? Would he want to call everything off if her father did not approve? Would his apparent respect for Mr. Tucker color his future actions? Diana felt like a culprit who must await the verdict of a returning jury.

They stayed in the barn for some time and Diana began to grow nervous with the thought that they would not get back to town for the 6:30 broadcast if Stephen did not hurry. It was a good three hours' drive and already it was nearly 2 o'clock.

At last they came back in and both men were smiling. "If you're ready, Diana, we'd better start," Stephen said.

"We'll be listening to your broadcast tonight," her father assured him.

"Don't be surprised if you hear some of your own opinions," Stephen laughed. "You know, you've given me several new ideas."

He helped Diana into her coat and they all stood there saying goodby. Just before Stephen opened the door, her father put his arm around Diana.

"Why don't you tell your mother before you go, Diana, that you're marrying Mr. Curt very soon?"

Stories in Stamps

Key Yugoslav City Was First Nazi Goal

A NATURAL goal of the German invasion of Yugoslavia was Ljubljana, in the extreme northwest corner of the country, only 25 airline miles south of the border of Nazi Austria, and an even shorter distance from the Italian frontier.

Ljubljana, fourth largest city in Yugoslavia, has about 80,000 inhabitants and is a busy commercial and manufacturing town. Its factories make iron wares, machinery, leather, textiles, paper, furniture, matches, and chemicals, all valuable to Germany.

Ljubljana was the Austrian city of Laibach until the treaties after the World War incorporated the town and the surrounding region of Slovenia in the new kingdom of Yugoslavia.

No matter what name the city had, it contributed many men to the European wars. The stamp above, issued in 1941 to raise money for the Ljubljana War Veterans Association, shows the veterans' memorial at Brezja. Strategically, the city dominated the road and rail routes southward down the broad valley of the Sava river to Zagreb, 80 miles away.

New issues: Willemstad, Curacao, a West Indies Netherlands colony, recently issued a series of stamps from a 6c to 30c value supplementing the 10c and 15c stamps issued Aug. 31. They bear a likeness of Queen Wilhelmina. . . . Bermuda will issue a 7½-pence to accommodate the airmail rate to the U. S. . . . Norway announced that the seventh centenary of the death of Sturlason Snorri has been commemorated with three stamps. Snorri (1179-1241) was a poet, author, lawyer, and twice president of the Iceland Legislative Assembly.

Food Oddity

In Japan, grilled sweet potatoes are sold by roadside vendors, and Japanese children go for them as Americans buy candy or ice cream.

Starting Dec. 1, Germany will allow men six cigarettes a day and women three every other day. That will mean about 225 a month for some married women.

The average girl doesn't discover that candy is sold by the bag until she is married.

Idle gossip goes in one ear and out the other—or in both ears and out the mouth.

Smart Accessories

Here are two practical suggestions for re-awakening a suit of last season or a favorite skirt. Either of these two smart toppers can be made from a yard or so of fabric—so, look through your remnants for a suitable material. You'll want both the jerkin and the clever vestee for your sports wardrobe—make them in felt, suede, corduroy, any bright woolen or plaid material!

Pattern No. 8037 includes both jerkin and vestee in sizes 12 to 20. Size 14 jerkin requires ¾ yard 54-inch material, 1½ yds. of 35-inch. Vestee ¾ yard 54-inch material; 1½ yards 35-inch.

For this attractive pattern, send 15c in coin, your name, address, pattern number and size to Sedalia Democrat - Capital Today's Pattern Service, 106 7th Avenue, New York, N. Y. This address and none other must be used. Do not send pattern mail to Sedalia, Missouri.

Faurot Asks Full Credit To Blocking Trio

Brings In Rest Of Team For A Great Season

COLUMBIA, Nov. 27.—(P)—Coach Don Faurot of Missouri untangled himself from a litter of mail and newspaper clippings, cleaned a little spot on his over-loaded desk and leaned back in his chair.

"Now listen, here," he said, "you newspaper guys don't give all the credit where credit is due."

"In the first place in all the talking you've done about Ice, Wade, and Steuber, you've never mentioned their blocking. "Say, do you suppose Harry could have gotten away on those long runs this season without a little blocking? Why Bob Steuber's one of the best blockers on the team. Ice may be small but he also certainly has been doing a lot of blocking, hard blocking, when he's in there."

"And Wade too, there's another good blocker. Refers To Statistics

The Bengal coach was in a talkative mood, "take these statistics here (he gestured at a sheaf of papers) Steuber ranks about fourth in the nation in total yardage by rushing, yet those boys who are leading him have carried the ball a whole lot more."

"We'll put Steub's 7.57 yard average against that of anybody in the country. And another thing to consider, Steub hasn't played a full game all season. In most of the games he spent at least one quarter on the bench, and Ice and Wade have been even less than that."

Faurot handed over the figure sheet. It showed Ice, Wade and Steuber have accounted for 2,039 of the Tigers 2,771 yards this season. The terrible trio has scored 162 out of the 226 total points. Twelve of its touchdowns have come on runs from outside the midfield stripe. "And don't think I don't give the line credit. If it weren't for those forwards, these would be no long runs or touchdowns. "It's the best team Missouri has had and I'm plenty proud of it. We sure hope we get a bowl bid and I think we deserve one." Faurot said he had received feelers from all bowls. "But I don't know anything definite. We probably won't know until after Texas meets Texas Aggies. We may hear something after Saturday's games."

Kansas State To Tucson

While the Tigers called a halt in their post season scrimmages, Kansas State was on the way to Tucson, Ariz., to be guests at the Arizona homecoming.

The Wildcats were at near full strength. Only John Hancock, star center, and tackle Dick Peters were ailing and they were expected to see action.

Oklahoma and Nebraska meet in an anti-climatic clash at Lincoln for second place in final Big Six standings. The Sooners have tried unsuccessfully since 1912 to win from the Huskers on their home grounds.

Chances for an Oklahoma victory Saturday aren't enhanced by speedy Orv Mathews' hip injury or the renewed spirit of Biff Jones' lads since their 14 to 13 triumph over Iowa. It was their first win in six starts.

Iowa State and Marquette tangle in a game which promises lots of aerials, the weather permitting.

Last Saturday's 45 to 6 affair at Lawrence wound up the season for Kansas and Missouri.

Night Parade Over Victories

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 27.—(P)—"Don for president" and "Party in the Rose Bowl."

Those were among the signs on placards carried by University of Missouri students as some 500 of them carried over their daytime class walkout into an after-dark football victory celebration last night.

The night parade amounted to a second celebration.

The first, started in the morning, ended abruptly when college deans voted they would apply the negative hour rule—a subtraction of credit hours for absences—to any who missed classes yesterday afternoon. That action served as a check on the morning's enthusiasm and sent most students back to class.

Coach Don Faurot and his football team still were awaiting more definite word, possibly this weekend, as to what bowl game they might attend.

Makes Proposal For Grid Czar

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Nov. 27.—(P)—A national collegiate czar over college football and basketball with authority similar to that of baseball's Judge K. M. Landis, is advocated by Forrest C. (Phog) Allen, noted University of Kansas basketball coach.

Allen, speaking last night at an athletic banquet here, proposed that subsidization of football and basketball players be "brought out into the open and controlled by a czar, who would have authority to act as he saw fit toward player, coach or athletic board member."

He suggested each conference would agree on the price to pay for athletes.

"For all practical purposes," Allen said, "many intercollegiate conferences would be divided into big pocketbook leagues and small pocketbook leagues. Members of the small pocketbook leagues would be allowed to play only members of their conference as would members of the big leagues."

A year ago Dr. Allen predicted football had but 10 years to live. He asserts the life span is even less today. Gambling is shortening the span, he said.

Russia May Be Decisive Field In Land Operations

us a certain amount of guidance, though it isn't conclusive.

1. The allies appear to retain the initiative, despite the powerful Nazi defense and counter-stroke under the fine leadership which one would expect to find in any German command.

2. The outcome of the battle is likely to turn on supplies and reinforcements, and here the allies would seem to have a great advantage.

The Germans are rushing everything they can by air to the support of General Rommel, but with a British fleet of warships guarding the coast of Libya it would appear that the help which can be sent to him is likely to fall far short of his needs. The British, on the other hand, reportedly have ample supplies and reserves which can be rushed across the desert—indeed, are being rushed into the fighting.

Thus, while Rommel has been doing a soldierly job in handling his forces in the face of a heavy surprise attack, the chances would seem to be against him. However, no battle has been won until the last shot is fired, and on that basis it would be rash to get categorical.

Just as this last sentence was written a bulletin arrived from Cairo to announce that New Zealand troops have made junction with British forces which have been fighting their way out of besieged Tobruk. This may be taken as added indication that things aren't going at all badly for the allies.

Tigers Strong In Rushing

SEATTLE, Nov. 27.—(P)—The American Football Bureau figured out today that Duke's Blue Devils climbed to a point just below the University of Arizona in total offense.

This surprising pencil calculation was the chief feature of the statistician bureau's national team ranking.

The Blue Devils closed their season with a 55-6 rout of North Carolina State, and thus boosted their rushing and passing average to 372.2 yards per game. Arizona, idle last week, leads with 373.5.

The figures (X—one game played, unreported; Y—two games):

Total offense—(gains rushing and passing)—Arizona 373.5 yards average per game; Duke 372.2; Utah, 354.6; Georgia, 351.8; Tulane, 350.1; Clemson, 345.5; Missouri, 344.7; (X) Detroit, 331.6; Texas, 324.5; Syracuse, 315.4.

Rushing offense—Missouri, 307.7 yards per game; Duke, 265.8; Utah, 263.1; Navy, 258.3; Minnesota, 257.8.

Forward passing offense—Arizona, 87 completions in 185 attempts for 184.3-yard average per game; Texas A. & M., 169.3; Washington (Mo.) 166.4; (X) Detroit, 156.3; Texas Mines, 144.6.

Total Defense—(Against rushes and passes)—Duke, 110.6 yards yielded per game; Texas A. & M., 123; Texas Tech, 126.3; (X) Harvard, 131.7; (Y) Vanderbilt, 132; (Y) Mississippi State, 132.2; Tulane, 135.6; Navy, 139.5; (X) Detroit, 142; Notre Dame, 142.6.

Rushing defense—Texas A. & M., 54.1 yards average yielded per game; Duke, 56; Georgia, 61.2; Tulane, 61.5; Navy, 63.1.

Forward pass defense—(Y)—Boston university, 24.7 yards yielded per game; Purdue, 27.1; (X) Harvard, 34.7; (Y) Mississippi State, 38; Denver, 39.7.

Punting—Texas Mines, 41.54; Clemson, 41.39; Fordham, 40.69; Navy, 40.66; (X) Army, 40.22.
